Java is a general-purpose computer-programming language that is concurrent, class-based, object-oriented, and specifically designed to have as few implementation dependencies as possible. It is intended to let application developers "write once, run anywhere" (WORA), meaning that compiled Java code can run on all platforms that support Java without the need for recompilation.

Hello again, I have got it working. I want to run a .bat file to open Apache Tomcat server. On Windows PC the command prompt must stay open after the file is run for the server to stay running. For the code you have given the command prompt closes after running the batch file. Any suggestions on how I can modify the code?
